Two female pirates, the English MARY READ & the Irish ANNE BONNY joined forces in 1719 when they found themselves quite by chance disguised as men on the same sloop. (Each had been notorious before their encounter).

Together with a privateer, a Capt. RACKHAM, they took command of the ship. When their vessel was captured after many acts of piracy, the 3 women were among the only three pirates who fought it out on deck rather than surrender. When Rackham was hanged, Anne told him, "If you <sup>had</sup> fought like a man, you need not have been hanged like a dog." The women were committed to prison after pleading pregnancy.

Mary Read died there of fever; she would have been hanged after giving birth. Anne Bonny's fate is not certain.
